About the Webinar

India is witnessing the second wave of the pandemic - Covid 19 and the impact of the pandemic is seen not only on the well being of the citizens of the nation but also on the economy as a whole. The education sector is also hard hit with schools , colleges and Universities closed for almost a year. The lock down to contain the spread of the virus has been the only weapon along with the vaccination in the hands of the administration . The pandemic has brought in a lot of negative growth in the economy of our country .The government is taking steps not only to control the spread of the virus but also is providing necessary packages for the revival of the economy and is on a war footing to vaccinate the entire population. As the pandemic continues to rattle us and an environment of Fear , Uncertainty and Doubt lingers around us, we need to rethink our priorities and understand the clear message of the natural environment, to be more cautious about the impact of our activities. The new world order has emerged, where nearly all rules are being ruled out.

Considering this change in environment the department of Commerce thought it apt to hold a national webinar on the topic "Challenges and Opportunities in Commerce and Management" to understand that Disruptions not only bring in challenges but also provide Opportunities

To sensitize everyone on this issue we have a very experienced and erudite scholar as the Resource person from the Department of Commerce and Management, Shivaji University, Kolhapur , Maharashtra.

A brief report of the activity :

The department of Commerce conducted an online National Webinar on 10-07-2021 on " Ethics in the workplace – The secret to meaningful careers" . Ethics at workplace which boils down to moral philosophy, which in turn influences the decisions made and the behaviours exhibited. It is important to recognize the distinction between what is law and what is ethical. It is possible for a behaviour to technically be legal, while still being considered unethical. Ethical lapses of any kind have the tendency to snowball in a work environment. Once employees see others breaking rules without repercussions, they may think that its excusable for them to do so as well. These behaviours can have far reaching effect on the work culture of an organisation. Therefore to sensitize the student community about the work place ethics and its role in shaping careers , we had Dr. Rita Rangnekar, Dean, Institution Building, ICFAI Business School, Mumbai as the resource person to share her views and answer questions of the student community.

The talk had 794 youtube views and 625 registrations

the Rani Parvati Devi College of Arts and Commerce, Belagavi

The Rani Parvati Devi College was established in 1945 and is presently affiliated to Rani Channamma University, Belagavi. It is a household name in this part of Karnataka and is known for imparting quality education. The vision of the college is "The college shall endeavour to ensure and promote teaching-learning and research to contribute to knowledge society in a globalized world. Its mission is transference of living values and empowering future citizens to fulfill individual and social responsibility with maturity.

About the Webinar

Workplace ethics, also referred to as business ethics, describes the ethical dimensions of organizations and company activities. The term encompasses nearly every issue that may arise in a business, including production, distribution, marketing, sale, and consumption of the goods and services being offered.

Workplace ethics boils down to moral philosophy. It is framed by how an individual or company's morality influences the decisions made and the behaviors exhibited. It is important to recognize the distinction between what is law and what is ethical. It is possible for a behavior to technically be legal, while still being considered unethical.

Ethical lapses of any kind have the tendency to snowball in a work environment. Once employees see others breaking the rules without repercussions, they may start to think it's excusable for them to do so as well. It sends the message that not only will the behavior go unaddressed, it communicates that it's acceptable. Worse case, they may view the company in a negative light and choose to leave. Essentially, a culture where misconduct is tolerated could result in higher turnover, lower productivity, and ultimately, a diminished reputation and profitability.

To sensitize the student community about the work place ethics and its role in shaping careers, we have a very experienced and erudite scholar as the Resource person.

About the Webinar

The world is a witness to the current pandemic - Covid 19 and the impact of corona is not only on the health of the human race but also on the global economies, where nations were locked down to contain the spread of the virus. The last couple of months have seen the most unimaginable situations in the world where the world economies have fallen, the GDPs' have tumbled, the stock markets have crashed, the oil prices have slipped to negative, the SME's have shut down their operations, job losses and labour migrations are the major issues. Globally to tackle these situations and to revive economies every nation has taken fiscal steps and provided revival packages to different sectors. Considering this global environment the department of Commerce thought it apt to hold a national webinar on the topic " Falling Economies - Revival Packages : A Global Phenomenon" to sensitize the global issue of revival post pandemic amongst the learned members of the society.

The topic of the webinar gives us the scope to discuss the issue both in terms of global impact of the slowdown due to the pandemic disruption and also its impact on the Indian economy. The wheel of the economy had stopped due to the global lockdown but economies are ensuring steps to revive and restart it with a global mantra that 'Disruptions are Opportunities'

To sensitize everyone on this issue we have the following esteemed speakers who will throw light on this relevant and contemporary issue faced by the whole world
